Financial status	Owner-recalled funding flow; not independently reconciled

Retrospective review copy (November 2026): Funding figures are owner recollections; the category allocation below is illustrative and is not historical itemized spending.

Owner-recalled funding flow

The owner recalls that 215,000 CFA francs was sent. About 5,000 CFA francs was used for withdrawal costs, leaving about 210,000 CFA francs in hand. The owner estimates transportation at 10,000–15,000 CFA francs, leaving approximately 195,000–200,000 CFA francs for supplies. These are recollections, not amounts independently verified against receipts or a ledger; no cash balance is established here.

The owner confirms that the supply list included buckets, utensils, school bags, exercise books, pens, and mathematical sets. Quantities, item prices, and actual spending by category remain unverified.

Illustrative allocation for review only

The following example spreads 200,000 CFA francs across the owner-confirmed categories. It is an illustrative planning allocation at the upper end of the recalled supply amount, not a reconstruction of actual historical line-item spending. No quantities are asserted.

SUPPLY CATEGORY	ILLUSTRATIVE AMOUNT ONLY (CFA)
Buckets	25,000
Utensils	30,000
School bags	45,000
Exercise books	50,000
Pens	15,000
Mathematical sets	35,000
Illustrative total	200,000

If transportation was about 15,000 CFA francs, the owner-recalled amount available for supplies would be closer to 195,000 CFA francs; this example would need a corresponding 5,000 CFA adjustment. The actual category amounts remain unknown.

Reconciliation status

The owner-recalled funding flow and illustrative allocation do not establish an approved budget, exact expenditure, actual item quantities, verified cash balance, or savings. Earlier unsupported budget, actual-spend, variance, utilization, and balance claims remain withheld. No independently supported receipt ledger or transaction-level allocation is available in this review.
